Joanna Briggs Institute Centre of Excellence
Robert Gordon University, Aberdeen, Scotland

Comprehensive Systematic Review Training Programme (CS RTP)

This 5-day interactive training programme enables participants to develop the knowledge and skills required to conduct and publish a Joanna Briggs Institute (JBI) protocol and systematic review on a topic relevant to their area of practice. The course is delivered by JBI accredited trainers who are themselves experienced systematic reviewers with a wealth of expertise in evidence-based practice and applied health research.

Module	Duration	Content
1	1 day	Introduction to evidence-based healthcare and protocol development
2	2 days	Systematic review of evidence generated by quantitative research, including meta-analysis
3	2 days	Systematic review of evidence generated through qualitative research, narrative and text, including meta-synthesis

The CS RTP is delivered at Robert Gordon University and can also be delivered “in house” at your place of work, please contact the Centre Director for further information on dates and course fees. Fees include the following:

- ❖ Small group interactive training by JBI accredited trainers
- ❖ Comprehensive course materials
- ❖ 1-year JBI software license subscription
